Introduction

You might've noticed this new face appearing in streams with looksmaxxing creators Clavicular and Hexumlite, but did you know that 32 year old Lamarcus Small of Huntsville, Alabama, also known as Master, is the creator of Looksmax.org itself? Even more infamously than that, Lamarcus originally co-founded the Sanctioned Suicide (SS, SaSu) forums, an internet forum created in 2018 to fill the void left from the banned r/SanctionedSuicide subreddit that was explicitly pro-choice in terms of suicide. The Sanctioned Suicide forums received widespread media criticism by the likes of BBC News, Vice, and the New York Times who would launch an investigation into Lamarcus blaming him for over 50 deaths linked to the website. Access to the forum has been restricted in some European countries such as Italy and Germany. Lamarcus is also the founder of incels.is, a former moderator of the r/Braincels subreddit in the few short years of it's lifespan, and a moderator for incels.wiki. For his professional work he is an IT technician.

Founding Incels.is, Sanctioned Suicide, and Looksmax.org

A black square containing the white text "SS." in a serif font.

Looksmax.org
Aesthetics matter.

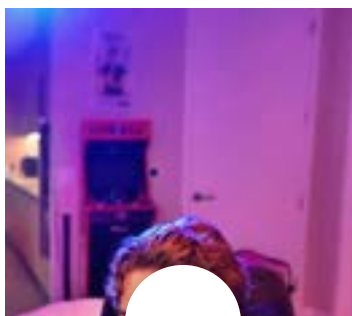

Similarly to how SaSu was created due to a subreddit being banned, Incels.is originally .me/.co was created just hours after the r/Incels subreddit was removed from the site on November 7, 2017. If you're unfamiliar, r/Incels has deep rooted history with Lookism forums such as PUAHate (shut down after Elliot Rodger) and SlutHate. Lamarcus was not alone in this however, as his role was more to handle the backend configurations, servers, hosting, and bills. The head admin and owner of the site at the time of it's creation up until 2021 was another man, Diego Joaquín Galante, or as he was known online SergeantIncel / Alias Serge / Alexander Ash / Eth / Ankh / Aleph / Rince / Asterisk / redxblood / Cerberus. He was a Uruguayan incel and Elliot Rodger superfan living with his parents in an upscale apartment in Montevideo, Uruguay's capitol, since his father was a prominent Law academic in the city. Diego founded incels.is, Sanctioned Suicide, and Looksmax.org with Master but stepped away from his role in 2021, leaving Lamarcus to fill in as head operator and public head of staff for the forums. Although rumored to have returned on sock accounts, Diego has not been heard from since.

Before we get into the events that caused the changes in leadership, let's talk about the domain history of incels.is and Master's other forums. In late 2018, incels was banned by its original domain registry .me for widespread violations of anti-abuse policies, specifically regarding the promotion of hate speech and violence. The site operators would change domains to its current incantation .is under Epik LLC as their domain register. .is is ISNIC (Internet á Íslandi hf.), which is the official registry operator for all .is (Iceland) domains. Forum staff explicitly chose the Iceland domain due to its country's free-speech laws regarding domain hosting. Unlike generic domains (like .com or .org) where commercial registrars (like GoDaddy) manage retail registrations, registrations under country-code domains like .is are often handled directly through the national registry itself (ISNIC) or localized authorized agents. When Sanctioned Suicide was launched in March of 2018 it was instead using Tucows as its domain registrar. Looksmax.org was originally founded in August of 2018 as a containment website for normies coming into the incels.is forums, but soon evolved into a popular ever-expanding resource hub for male DIY self improvement, regardless of if the methodology was founded in any proven science. Looksmax.org was not using Epik LLC as its registrar, choosing to rely on alternative, privacy-centric routing and domain hopping (such as utilizing Njalla and enterprise-level Cloudflare protection)

Sanctioned Suicide was a place for people to freely talk about suicide without risk of being put in a mental hold. Although there were strict rules against encouraging others to commit the act on the website, many threads existed on proffered methods, notably popularizing the use of Sodium Nitrate, and even the infamous "goodbye" threads were a user posts one final message before committing suicide. Another controversy was when a user, Craig McNally, would exploit the vulnerable women of the site by driving them to commit suicide and sexually assaulting them in real life.

Craig McNally pleaded guilty at the High Court in Glasgow

He persuaded one of them, a vulnerable 25-year-old woman, to come to his flat and “practise” suicide.

McNally repeatedly choked her to the point where she lost consciousness.

The first event of major importance occurred on May 22nd, 2019, when a 25 year old woman from Pennsylvania would take her own life with Sodium Nitrate after making a goodbye thread on the website. She had no less than ten posts at the time of her death, and when her body was found her family would post in the thread. After the fact, the grieving family would take to social media causing a public outcry against the forum.

I'm a family member of this girl and yes it was successful but I can tell you how it feels it feels horrible for everybody who is Left Behind it feels absolutely Unthinkable for her mother and her brothers and sister and her dad and her stepdad and her aunts and uncles and cousins it is heartbreaking is devastating it is the worst pain you could ever ever imagine. For all of those out there feeling like this is the only way think about all the people you are leaving behind the people who would do anything and everything to make it better for you. so instead of encouraging these people to feel like this is the only way out how about let's encourage them to get help and to know Lamarcus, at the time going by Marquis and acting as the site's administrator, would respond by deleting the thread and making a forum post. He would oppose the notion to censor his site by saying the resources provided helped thousands to avoid getting held against their will.

Regardless, Shawn's Law was put into place enforcing harsher penalties on assisting suicide. It wouldn't be long until BuzzFeed wrote a scathing article against the site's moderation, exposing Larmacus and Diego's identities and history.

Incels Are Running An Online Suicide Forum That Was Blamed For A Young Woman's Death

Incels, or "involuntary celibates," are misogynists who are part of the online hatred ecosystem. They rage against — and, in some cases, murder — women because they are sexually active.

An online suicide forum that the family of a 25-year-old woman recently blamed for her killing herself is run by incels — or "involuntary celibates" — who own several other incel communities online, one of the founders disclosed to BuzzFeed News.

Incels are, in general, an online community of misogynistic men who think they are entitled to sex from women and are furious that they don't get it because of their appearance. Some incels are part of the troubling trend in which toxic hatred online manifests itself in the physical world. Men have killed in the name of an "incel rebellion" or in homage to an incel shooter who murdered six people in Isla Vista, California, in 2014.

When KiwiFarms users would discuss the article, owner Josh Moon replied saying he had reached out to Lamarcus offering support.

Later, in November of 2020, Lamarcus would be approached by Vice reporters for an interview and would accept. He would answer their questions earnestly and honestly which was unwise as Vice would turn around and release an article against the site as well.

The Vice article goes into detail about a separate incident, this time the suicide of an 18 year old named Junior Wilson, along with repeating the Shawn case from the previous year. After this article was published, Junior's mother Kelli Wilson would begin to "champion" his legacy by became an activist and founding the Texas organization called Fix The 26. The 26 words being the 26 words of Section 230 of the US Communications Decency Act: "No provider or user of an interactive computer service shall be treated as the publisher or speaker of any information provided by another information content provider." She operates very similarly to the #DropKiwiFarms playbook, and did a lot of shit including phonebooking a forum user ironically ending with them committing suicide a month later, calling for Lamarcus to be publicly executed, and petitioning their domain registrar to drop them.

People Are Dying After Joining a 'Pro-Choice' Suicide Forum. How Much Is the Site to Blame?

Loss survivors are demanding an end to the site, and provoking a conversation about how little we know about the internet and suicide risk.

Junior loved the weather: how to forecast rain or snow, the variations of atmospheric pressure, measuring wind, humidity, and temperature. He could watch the Weather Channel for hours. On a trip to New York with his mother Kelli Wilson in his early teens, they visited NBC Studios, where Junior stood in front of a green screen, where a meteorologist might stand, gesturing to a forthcoming or receding storm.

The night before Junior died, on April 25, 2020, Wilson looked up meteorology summer programs for her son—anything to wrench him out of the depressed and anxious mood he had been mired in for about four months.

Junior was 18 when he died by suicide, his round face still carrying the softness of childhood.

About a week after he died, Wilson entered the passcode on his phone and found a web page open. We're calling the website Suicide Solution, which is not its name, due to the concerns of experts who believe that naming it explicitly could lead to self-harm by distressed people. This was not an easy decision, for reasons this story delves into in detail, but we've chosen to err on the side of caution.

Hi @tu cows - Are you aware that the sanctionedsuicide dot org domain is being used for this? Live blogging suicide while others provide support? Oh and the site is run by angry incels. You OK with that? You're the registrar.

Initially, Epik was known as a safe haven for those who may not be protected by Cloudflare. Wikipedia lists past and present Epik customers as Gab, Parler, 8chan, the Oath Keepers, and the Proud Boys. But in September of 2021, a hacktivist group claiming to be associated with the infamous Anonymous targeted Epik LLC's servers in a historic data breach of 180 gigabytes of data being leaked, including the information of users from incels.is. The breach revealed decades of server logs, payment histories, internal credentials, and unencrypted user details. Fearing having his personal information revealed to the public, SergeantIncel would announce his permanent departure from all sites/roles. Supposedly he has made a deal with Homeland Security NGO Light Upon Light, a counter-extremism group with ties to ex-FBI informant Jesse Morton who was also an AL Qaeda propagandist. Sergeant cut out an agreement for sharing user data on "depressives / radicals / suicidal users" in exchange for legal protection.

One last massive hit to Sanctioned Suicide would cause Lamarcus to finally quit it's moderation staff in December of 2021 when Gabriel Dance and Megan Twohey authored a 33-page, front page New York Times article alleging three more victims along with repeating the previous Shawn case. The three newly named victims were 17-year-old Matthew van Antwerpen, 22-year-old Roberta Barbos, and 16-year-old Daniel Dal Canto. The journalists would expose Diego as owner of the forum along with Lamarcus as the backend operator. Journalists would call numbers leaked in the Epik LLC data breach until they eventually found voices matching Diego's and Lamarcus as heard in podcast appearances, and published the audio recordings in the article confirming the identities to be accurate to forum users familiar with the two. After the article's publication, Lamarcus would announce his departure from moderating Sanctioned Suicide transferring ownership to MtF forum user RainAndSadness.

I'm not quite sure how to start this thread but people have been wondering about the future of this forum. For now I'm taking care of relevant matters. It's necessary considering the circumstances. You don't need to worry about anything - as far as I see, nothing is gonna change with the transfer of leadership and I intend to keep this community exactly the way it exists right now. But there will be temporary adjustments to suit the situation. This isn't the first time we've had to endure this kind of treatment from the public so we know that to expect. The heat will blow over. It's just a matter of time.

You know my opinion about this whole incident. This community has a right to exist, period. We're not ramping down. Nothing stops this train. That's where I stand.

I'd like to thank to everyone that stood with us despite the difficult and uncertain circumstances.

Kind regards,
RainAndSadness

Lamarcus also claimed to transfer ownership of Looksmax.org to a white supremacist with an account named Rassisten/Infinity. Infinity would quietly keep everything running until Master returned to Looksmax.org in 2022 on a new account, causing Infinity to leave shortly thereafter. It's highly likely this was either solely Lamarcus himself or some sort of shared account with him on it. Other theories point to the Infinity account being operated by SergeantIncel herself or an unknown third party. When questioned, Lamarcus would attempt to redirect blame away from himself and denied all involvement with the forums until it was proven otherwise. It is widely known that during this period and after Looksmax.org was heavily monitored by the FBI in order to document violent incel communities. They found the forums through Sanctioned Suicide's horrendous reputation and the public outcry Lamarcus faced, however the FBI would stop monitoring Looksmax.org after determining that users were just "Good for nothing edgy teenage tryhard racist losers" and not a legitimate terroristic organization.

From this point forward after his return in 2022 Master would take an active role as the public facing site administrator and operator for both incels.is and Looksmax.org. Looksmax.org uses "an ultra secure Cloudflare enterprise version" and accepts donations in cryptocurrency. Both incels.is and Looksmax.org use XenForo's PHP forum software package to run their forums, similarly to KiwiFarms. Unlike Kiwifarms however none of Lamarcus's websites have been dropped by Cloudflare as a registrar. Lamarcus would express their sympathies towards Null for having to deal with the #DropKiwiFarms movement and announced that they had privately offered Josh advice through email.

In 2023 UK publication the BBC would launch an investigation into Master as the owner of Looksmax.org and former owner of Sanctioned Suicide. They would write an extremely invasive article camping outside of Lamarcus's home for days on end waiting for him to appear outside, in which they attempted to maliciously interview him on his involvement in SaSu. Holding him responsible for hundreds of suicides was very irresponsible on the medias behalf, and generally outside of Fox News major media outlets would refuse to name Sanctioned Suicide in their writeups - treating the website as some sort of bogeyman that would cause more deaths at it's mere mention. The videos from this article are included in the introductory section of this thread, and include the BBC reporters interviewing family of Lamarcus's "victims." They even find his old yearbook photo and show it to the families to torment them. Lamarcus would learn from his prior experiences and refused to speak with the media this time, instead choosing to continue on with his forums which he still moderates to the present day.

'Failure to act' on suicide website linked to 50 UK deaths

24 October 2023

Angus Crawford & Tony Smith
BBC News

British authorities failed to act on multiple official warnings about a website promoting suicide that has been connected to at least 50 UK deaths, the BBC has found.

The online forum, which we are not naming, is easily accessible to anyone on the open web, including children.

Our investigation has identified multiple warnings to government by coroners and a number of police investigations, but the forum still remains active.

Families of the dead, the youngest just 17, say the failure to act led to more avoidable deaths. They are demanding an inquiry.

Share • Save

The problem for the authorities is that the website is hosted anonymously and no-one knows who is currently running it.

But the BBC did manage to track down one of those who created it.

Angus Crawford attempts to speak to Lamarcus Small

Lamarcus Small helped set up the forum after a similar pro-suicide thread was banned from the social media forum and discussion site Reddit.

Small lives in the suburbs of Huntville, a city in the US state of Alabama. Something of a recluse, he rarely comes out of his house.

We waited three days to speak to him.

Small has claimed in the past to no longer be involved in the forum. When confronted, he refused to answer any of our questions.

Families hold Small responsible for hundreds of deaths worldwide.

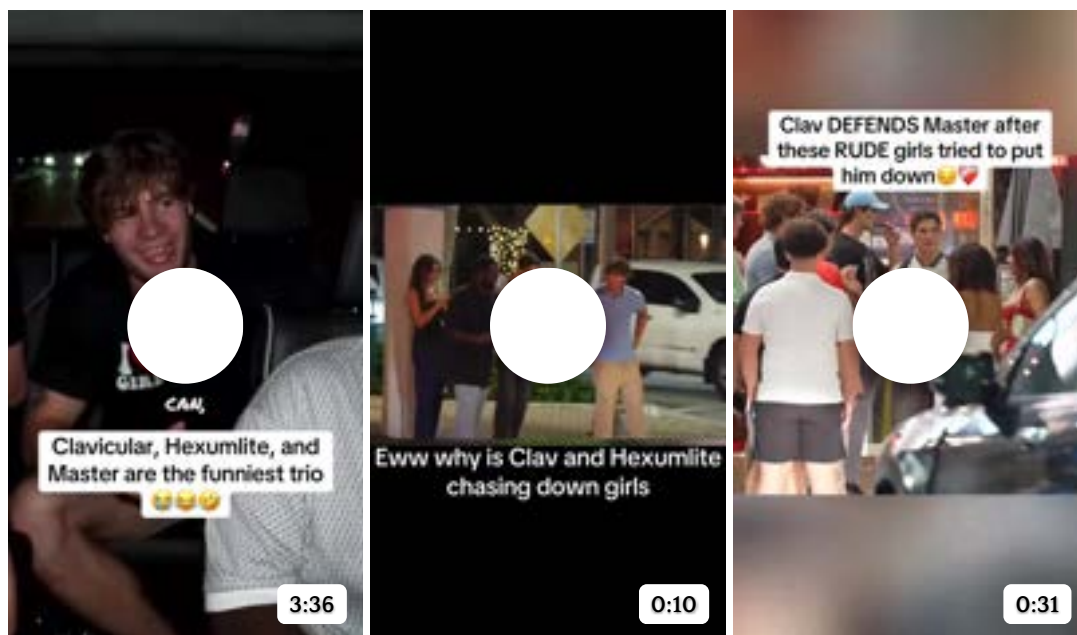

Now, Looksmaxxing has been popularized to the mainstream level through creators like Clavicular who has an extensive thread on here which was recently featured due to him being charged with raping and drugging a minor.

[illegible]

Clavicular and Lamarcus would form a trio with another creator that is less talked about on here but is well known to Looksmaxxers, Hexumlite real name Aaron, by livestreaming together on Kick. Initially this started with Lamarcus making an appearance on Hexumlite's Kick stream, and then Clavicular's.

Hexumlite is more of a jester (comedian) who pokes fun at the world even when faced with the truth of hypergamy. He's known for putting on a blaccent, having his famous catchphrase "red hot mayne," and cold approaching women in public. The three of them would team up together in several Kick streams where they would all approach women together. Notably, Master was always left out with most women laughing at him or questioning why they were hanging out with them anyways, just leaving Clavicular to back him up as the "creator of Looksmaxxing."

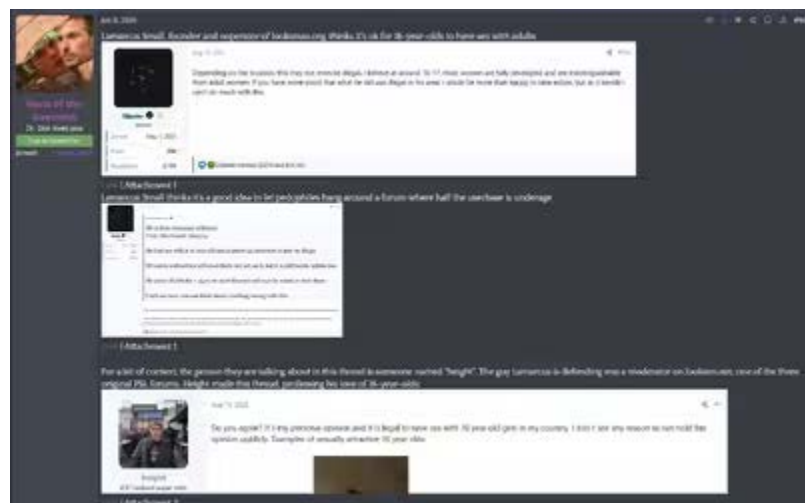

At the time Master became more positively viewed because of this, at least as a funny and interesting character unlike a heinous murderer like the media tried to portray him as earlier. He would even be recognized in public by women wanting to take photos with him, something unheard of for a truesel like him.

something unheard of for a queerer like him.

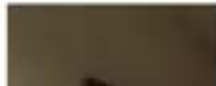

However his reputation was not favorable on KiwiFarms in 2026 when Lamarcus and the Looksmaxers OP @Guns of the Gaytriots would get into an argument over a post Master made in 2022 regarding a 21 year old German user having sex with a 16 year old.

Of course authorities will most likely not act on it, but it is still barely within law.

He posts JB tiktoks + 15 yo on most threads and says he wants to fuck them

Can't see how you can think there's nothing wrong with this.

If he has a pattern of posting young women, then he would be dealt with, but it doesn't seem that he's doing anything wrong in his jurisdiction.

I don't think it's my place to pass moral judgement if he's following the laws of his country. As long as he's not going around sharing CP or sharing any information that indicates that he's doing something illegal, I can't act on it.

He also did not respond well to this accusation in the thread, saying he was not defending the user's actions. I think most would agree saying a 16 year old girl is fully developed is disgusting.

Not true at all.

It's crazy that you had to go all the way back to 2022 to find an out of context quote from me regarding a situation where one forum member alleged that this forum member did something. I was making a factual point here and I even emphasized that if he was breaking the law in his area or had any proof of what they alleged is true that they could send it to me and I would have taken action. They never did.

For a bit of context, the person they are talking about in this thread is someone named "Height". The guy Lamarcus is defending was a moderator on fuckum.net, one of the three original PS1 forums. Height made this thread, professing his love of 16-year-olds.

I didn't defend him at all.

I was simply stating that I will not enforce rules without evidence of him breaking the law or the forum rules. If there was any evidence provided to me at the time that he was actually preying on anyone at all, he would have been removed from the forum right away.

It would be easier if you trained your members there to start reporting behavior like that. Make an announcement "LISTEN UP, WE HAVE TO STRAIGHTEN OUT THIS COMMUNITY" and mention banned terms (bailbait/18 being a start). Make it clear that you're not after the teen men on your forum, but you have to encourage legal behavior. If they don't like snitches, gee, go to a different forum for your dream underage child bride or child husband, you're not taking the legal risk. People will chimp out on the post and that will also make it easy to ban the most vocal underage enthusiasts. I wouldn't be surprised if you were reluctant to ban people like this because your user base contains high schoolers who of course will date within their age range. But having psychos who jump up and down for "virgin underage or nothing" doesn't do good for a growing man's psyche: they won't stay high schoolers forever and should aim for women (or men) in their age bracket. I would also not be surprised if you were reluctant to do this because you're afraid your userbase would demonize you for siding with women. Don't be stupid; tell them to grow up, you're trying to not get people thrown in jail or groomed. If they chimp out, don't let them bruise your ego. If you can't bring yourself to start getting the community to report this more, then lol, cuck.' The post has 1 like and 0 replies.

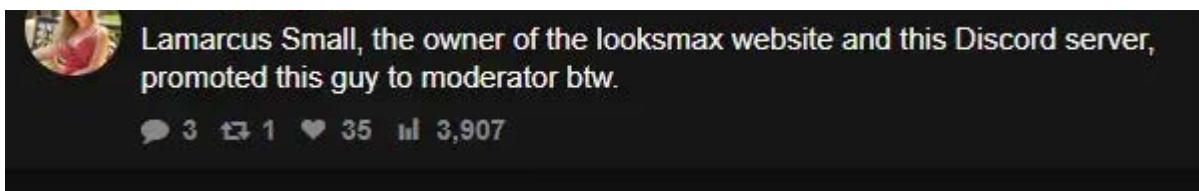

Even after Lamarcus responded in the thread, acknowledging asdvek, nothing happened. Asdvek was swept under the rug until two months later when a bunch of users fed up with the rampant pedophilia on the site rallied around a guy name Greypiller and basically spammed the forum until staff physically couldn't ignore the issue anymore and banned him along with two other pedophiles.

Asdvek is just one of many instances that reveal a pattern of Lamarcus welcoming pedophiles into his communities. Another example is RODEBLUR. Lamarcus made him a mod for the looksmax.org Discord server. Rode then detailed his plans to kidnap and rape a 15 year old girl he was obsessing over. Lamarcus kept him around as a mod in the server.

Lamarcus defended Height by saying stuff like "we're not the moral police" or "what they're saying isn't illegal" or whatever but the issue with this approach is that when you allow a safe space for pedophiles they get comfortable. They start doing pedophilic activities. But don't just take my word for it. This is something that the site has experienced firsthand. There used to be a "Jailbait Megathread" on looksmax.org dedicated to discussing pictures of underaged girls. Eventually, as the former admin Alexanderr states, the thread had to be deleted because pedophiles got so comfortable that they were posting actual fucking child porn out in the open.

The pedophiles are so sure about their safety that they publicly admit to participating in child porn distribution rings with other site members. It should be noted that the guy in that post was in fact not banned and operated on the site until he likely voluntarily deleted his account.

Spoiler: Explanation

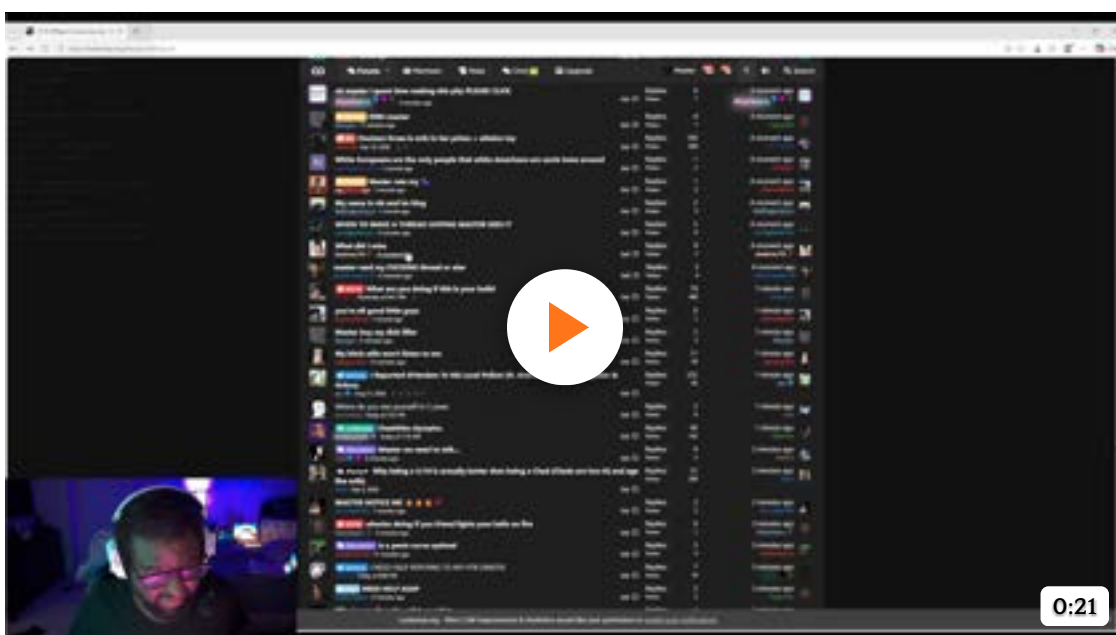

And that's not even mentioning that these pedophiles are hanging around in a community where about half of the userbase is under the age of 18. The forum is the perfect grooming environment for chomos. This is not a culture that suddenly appears over night. This is a culture that arrives slowly, emerging either through years of extremely negligent or deliberate moderation decisions.

Conclusion

Overall, Master has played an interesting and historic role in forming many popular and controversial alternative forums spanning almost ten years of online history. Both revered and heavily criticized by many differing sources at once, he continues to be a polarizing figure in the Manosphere. Today, Master streams himself on Kick under the name masteronorg playing CS2 and reacting to threads on Looksmax.org live. Since he's known to stream occasionally and post on Xitter often it's easy to continue following him even if you are outside of these communities.

Although his connections to Clericalism and the wider Looksmaxing community is what most Although his connections to Clavicular and the wider LOOKSmxxing community is what most know him for due to it's recent spike in popularity, what I found to be most interesting about him was his history with domain registrar issues and friendship with the mysterious Diego / SergeantIncel. Master has expressed sympathy for Null and Josh himself has acknowledged Master, and both of them play similar roles within their respective communities as a founder and curator of discussion.
